

Voice without echo: Street youth

WENDY MONROY

MEXICO

05.2009

Globalisation

Pattern of development:

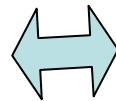

Corporate aspects

Competitiveness

Cultural homogeneity

Abandonment of State functions

IMPOVERISHMENT AND EXCLUSION

HUMAN RIGHTS

Health

Housing

Food

Education

Justice

Street populations

Chronic phenomenon

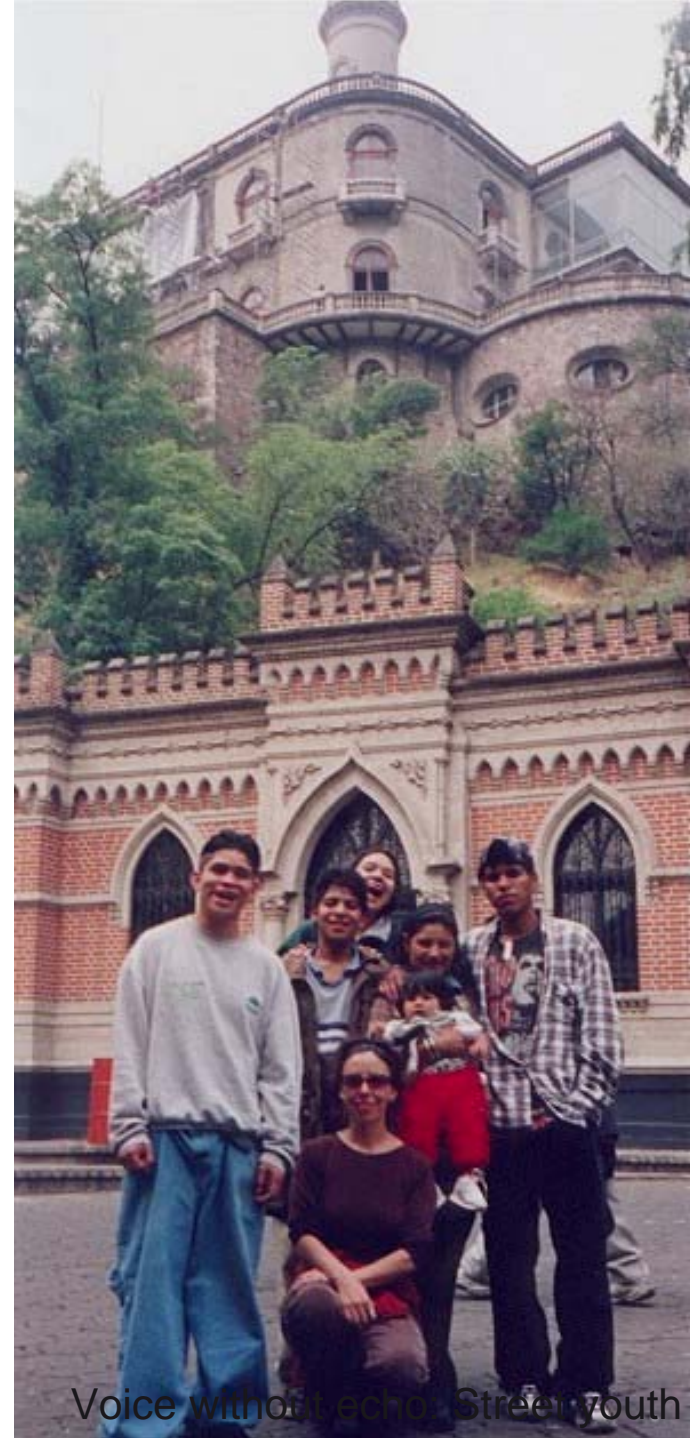

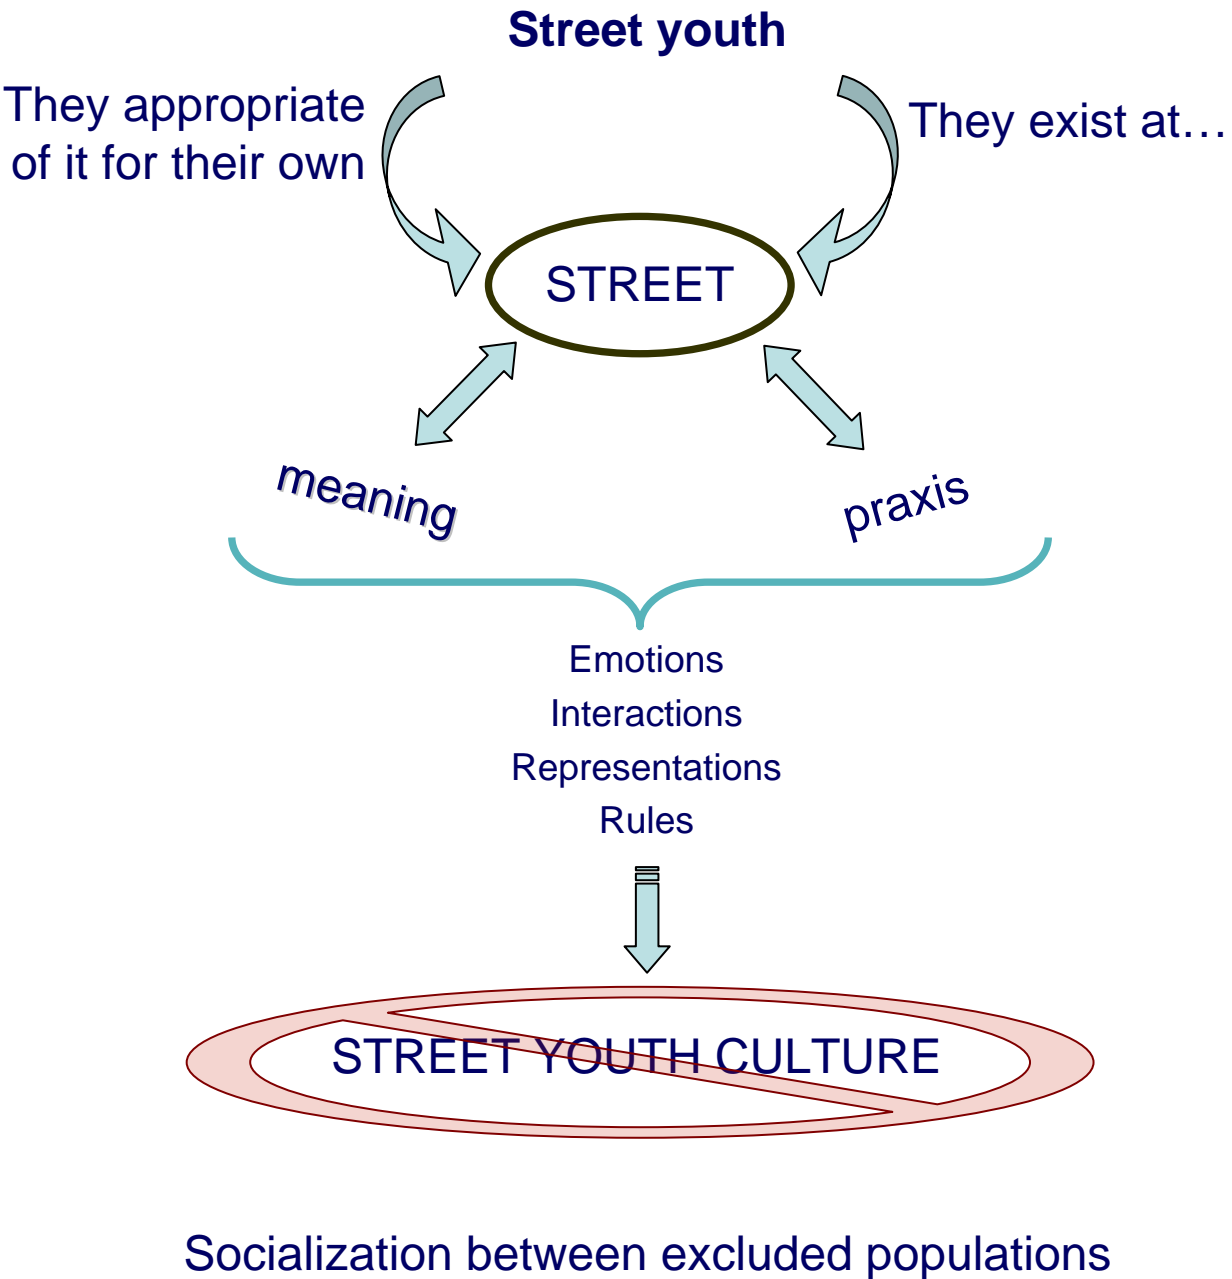

STREET YOUTH

Identity is given by space and time

Expression and organization in front of social and economic order

YOUTH CULTURE

YOUTH PROTAGONISM

Voice without echo: Street youth

Rights approach

Active participation

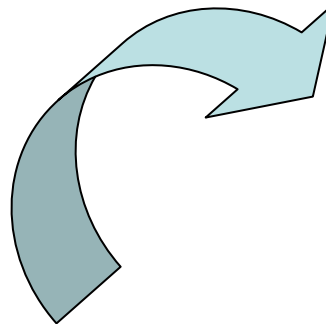

Enjoyment of rights and responsibilities

Inclusive society

Valuing diversity

Macro structural conditions

PUBLIC POLICIES!

Charity, authoritarianism and repression

Without capacity of decision

Hierarchical needs

Victims / victimizers

Exclusion

Denied

Voice without echo: Street youth

They dream about their human rights, but they don't know that is their right enjoy them:

“Just a little room... I don't want to run between many places... you know... the police, the rain... I want could stay at same place for a while with my children...”

“I want some respect... they winnow their cars to us (when he is cleaning windows)... but I don't stop cleaning... they won't support me!”

CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION

Permanent and integral

Not restricting it to formal education

Significant learning

Functional competences

Human rights

Human beings critics and free

Voice without echo: Street youth

GRACIAS

TAK

THANK YOU

Voice without echo: Street youth
Mexico

Wendy Monroy

wendyjmj@hotmail.com